Time slips on-
There's no stopping it
Or even slowing its pace.
Like the sands of time falling grain by grain,
We must live from day to day-
Enjoy the good times, survive the bad.

And as time marches on,
We realize how important it is
For us to look over our shoulders
And retrace our steps, measuring each grain's worth.
Wanting to relive our past,
Knowing that all of it —
good and bad —
Becomes for us
Our moments to remember.

UNFORGETTABLE

*Homecoming Spirit
Even Survives
Gusting Winds*

Each year Homecoming seems to bring more enthusiasm than the year before. This year was definitely no exception. It was viewed as the best Homecoming De Pere has had in a long time. Everyone displayed his school spirit by taking part in the excitement.

Despite the cold winds and occasional snow flurries, the parade moved along the streets of De Pere. Along the way De Pere merchants backed the Redbirds with "good luck" slogans painted on their windows. Nature's contributions of wind and snow resulted in several runny noses and the destruction of the senior float. FFA took first place in float competition with their moving octopus while the freshmen placed second.

Sha-na-na Rocks Noon Hour

Each day of the week had a special name. Cash prizes were awarded daily for the best costume. Monday, Occupation Day, enabled the students to reveal their desired career. Kim Perrault, looking like a dirty master mechanic, had the best costume for the day.

Tuesday, '50's Day, gave students a chance to dig into mom's and dad's wardrobe for those "golden Oldies." Salena Blauert, complete with rollers in her hair, won the best costume for the day. At lunch the Sha-na-na--John McVey, Grant Garnett, Joe La-see, and Dave Schelter--performed by singing such heart throbbers as "Blue Moon."

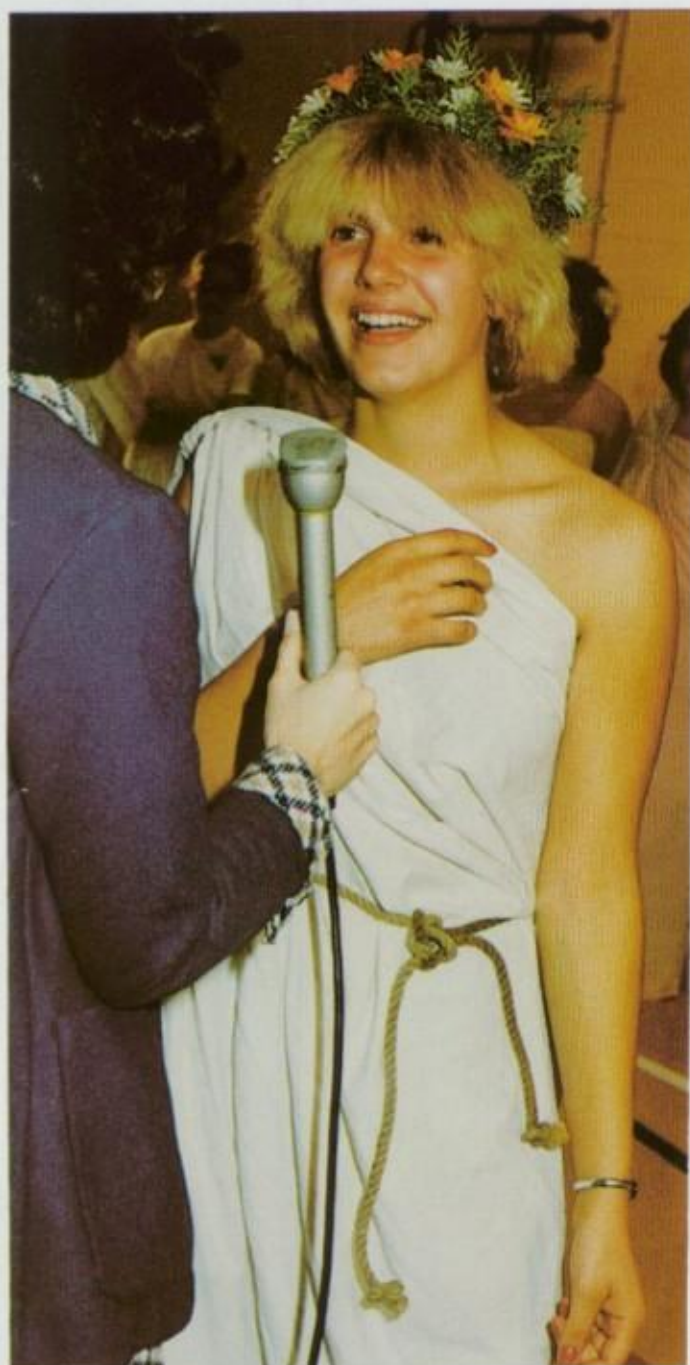

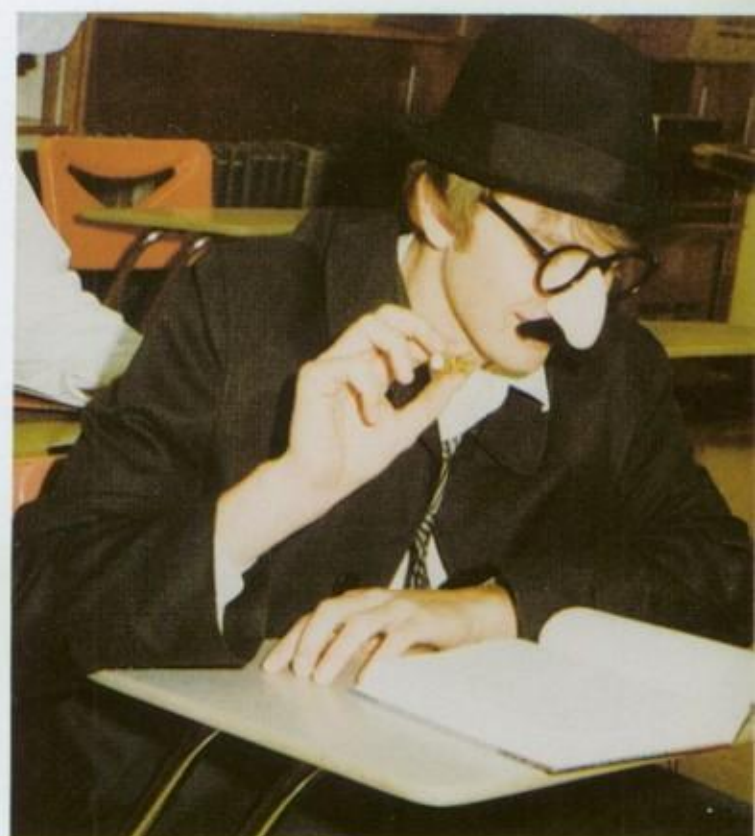

The spirit court, made up of senior student council members, used their vile persuasion to get both students and teachers to jitterbug.

Sex Change Day Brings Students "Out Of The Closet"

Wednesday was Toga Day. Michelle Quigley said, "Everyone thinks the Romans wore sandals, but we know they wore hiking boots." Decked out in tight curls and a laurel wreath, Linda Rimple, winner of the best costume, would rival a Roman in authenticity.

Undoubtedly, Thursday was the craziest of all — Sex Change Day. The girl population rose greatly on this day. At noon, contests were held to see which beauty had the best legs, best hairdo, and best ??? Ron VandenElzen and Bob Perrault tied for the winner of the day.

Seniors Steal Spirit Jug

Of course, Friday was the traditional Color Day. Exotic costumes of red and white filled the classrooms and the gym. At noon spirited cheers from each class rang through the commons. In the spirit of revenge senior guys put the spirit court on the bubbler.

At the assembly Mr. Miskella won the Mr. Kool contest by sitting on the block of ice the longest. A decimeter was used to judge the class with the biggest mouths. The seniors were awarded the Spirit Jug because of their class poster, their skit, and the overall spirit during the week.

Class Pride Ignites Rivalry

The assembly took a more solemn note when Kevin DeCleene and Mary Joy Daanen were crowned king and queen. The court then made their royal march to the theme song "I'll Never Love This Way Again," sung by Margaret Quinnette and the Swing Choir.

The football game against Marinette thrilled the chilled fans for the first half. After the game was lost, the enthusiasm remained in the loyal, shivering fans. At the dance the usual commons turned into a country scene with hay, leaves, and even a scarecrow. The band Expressions provided the music. The dance ended the week's festivities. The fun and enthusiasm of Homecoming were over. But the memories would remain. It was truly unforgettable.

Varsity, JV Nab Bay Titles

For the sixth consecutive year the cross country team captured the Bay Conference championship. But this year's team was quite different from those of the past. There was no star or premiere runner on the team, but there were five runners of equal ability which gave the team consistency. Because of this the coaches predicted that either Ashwaubenon or Shawano would win the championship.

After the JV team captured the JV Bay Conference championship, the Shawano runners accused DePere of stacking the JV team so that DePere could win something. This provided the incentive for the varsity runners to turn in their best performance of the season, capturing the Bay championship.

The team received a plaque for their second place finish at the sectional meet. Although no one qualified for the state meet, the team ran a good final race. Seniors Terry VanderLoop, Jeff Zellner, Pat and James Boyd, and Jeff Hirn will be missed next year because of their contributions to DePere cross country.

Cross Country Team: ROW 1: Coach B. Christenson, P. Boersma, D. McMillan, J. McDonough, J. Boyd, T. VanderLoop, J. Zellner, Coach T. Tanck. ROW 2: C. Forstner, J. Gilling, P. Boyd. ROW 3: P. Bergum, R. Burnton, J. Hirn, A. Schumacher, M. Christenson.

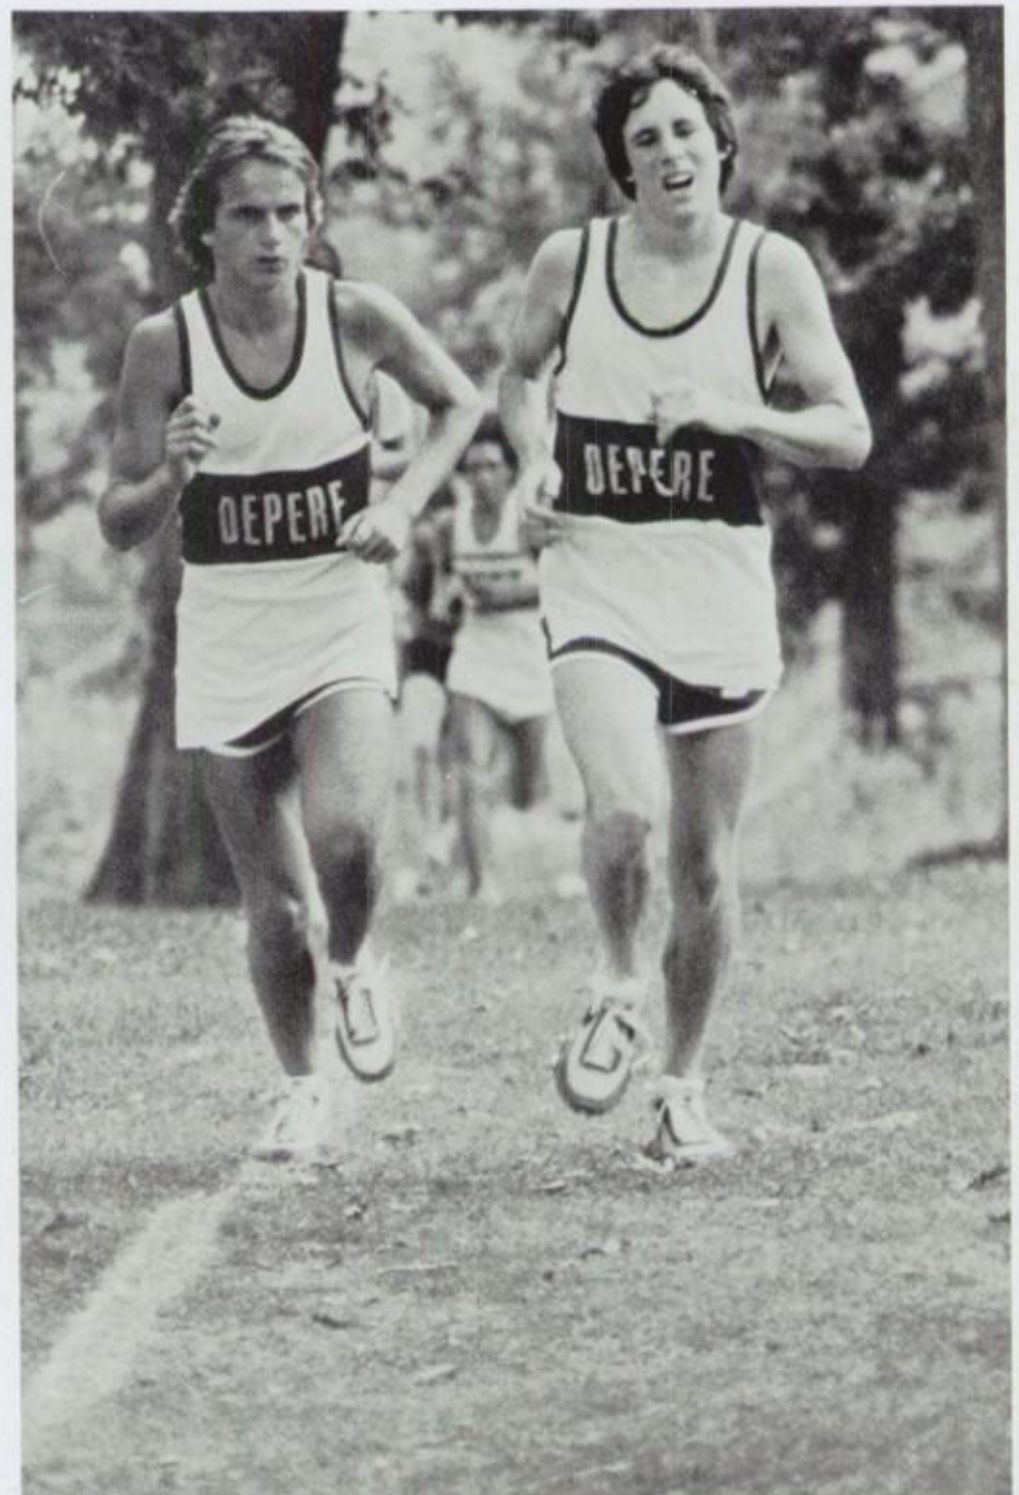

Although in agony, Paul Bergum pushes his way to another fine finish.

Craig Forstner, and Dan McMillan are lining up for another Redbird victory.

Ah, the glory of being a senior! This long awaited year for the class of '80 has run its course. The privileges of being able to sleep late in the morning, leave early in the afternoon, or scan the commons from the balcony will now be passed on to this year's juniors. The hard work and recreation has not ended but just begun. Now the future lies ahead of us. Like a bird taking its first flight out of the nest, we must test our wings and soar into the second half of our lives.

Student Abilities Dazzle Audience

Indeed, the 1980 Fox Talent Show was a night to remember. It attracted spectators of all ages, filling the auditorium to capacity.

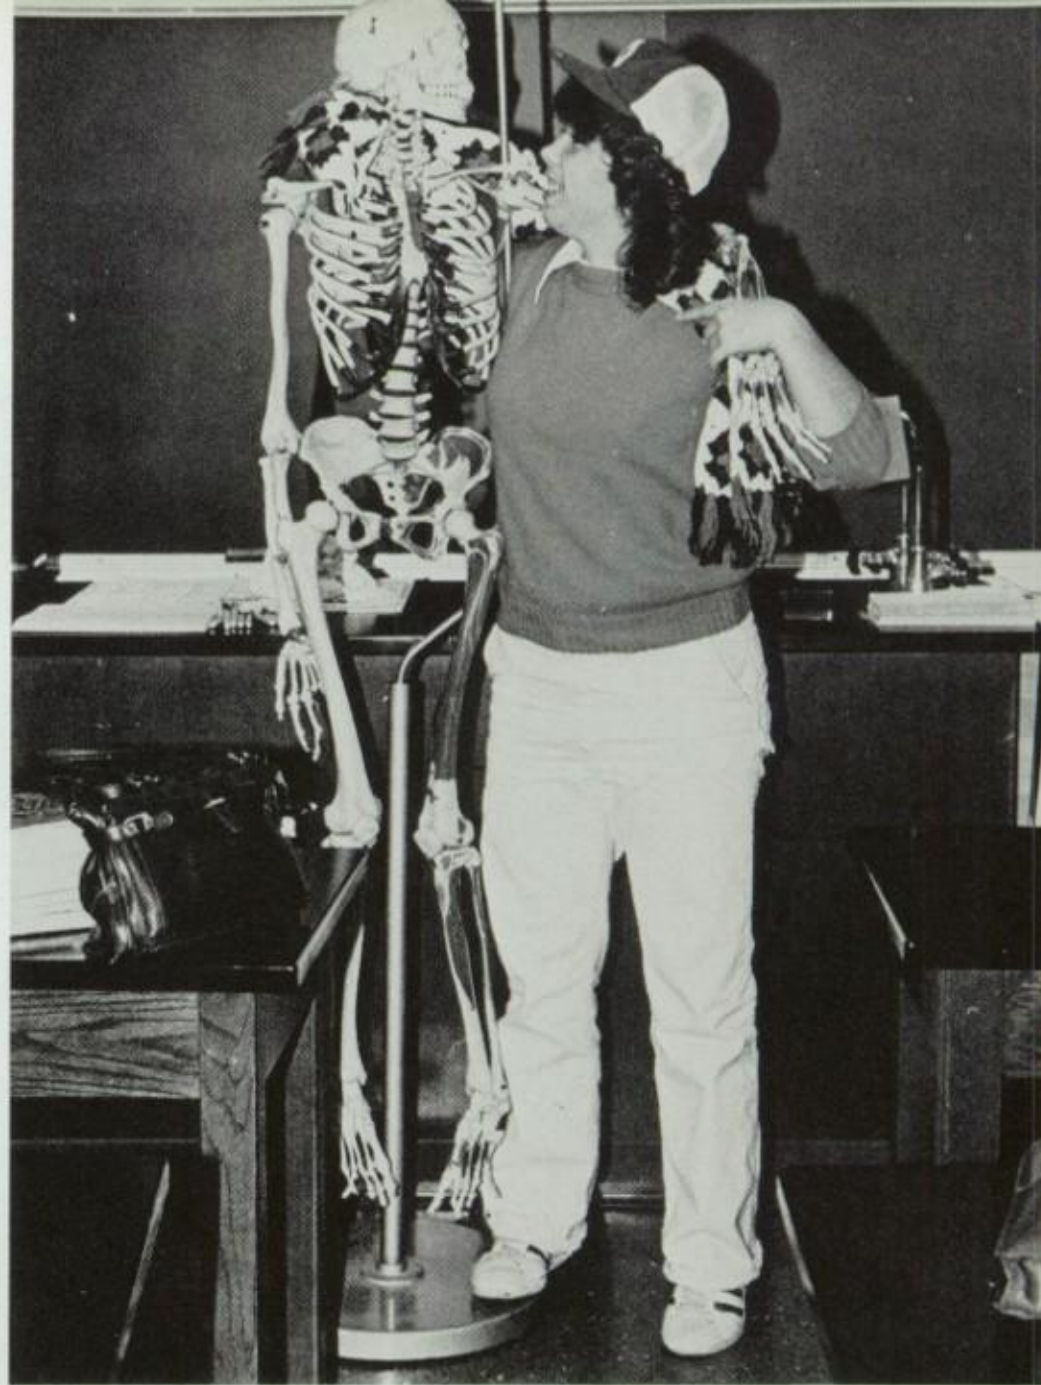

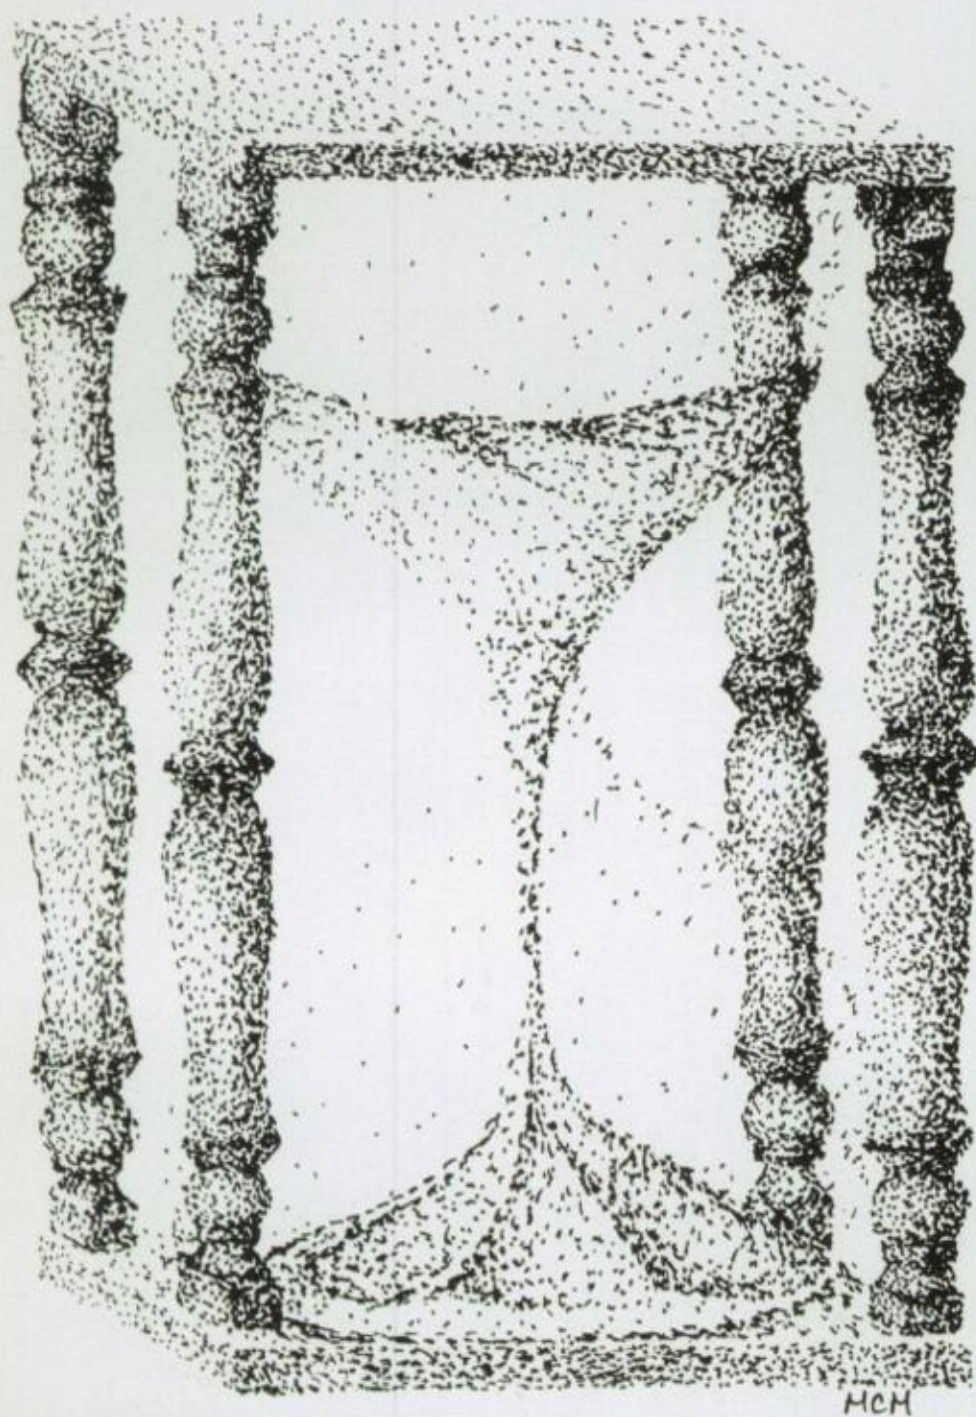

The show consisted of sixteen acts, providing a variety of entertainment. This variety included everything from Patty Bourassa's dazzling jazz dance to Joe Champ and Dave Schelter's version of the Muppets singing "Moving Right Along."

First place went to Karrie Schmidt, singing "Proud of Me," a song she wrote and composed. Melissa Lamers and Emmitt, the heart-warming ventiloquism act, took second place. And the school's own Sha-Na-Na, a group formed for last year's Talent Show, took third place. Nevertheless, each of the sixteen acts displayed exceptional talent and deserved to win.

Lastly, masters of ceremony John Van Dyck and Gary Wicker accented the entire production with their relaxed composure and witty remarks. A night such as this can seldom be forgotten.

WILD AND CRAZY

*Food Freaks
"Pig Out"*

Food! Food! Food! It is a known fact that food is an essential item. No one can live without it. Indeed, this holds true with the students at De Pere High School.

The machines in the commons are a hungerpains pleaser. They contain a variety of cookies, candy, and pop. (Don't worry, Mom, there is always the granola bar.) The machines have become a convenient way to calm a growling stomach before a quiet study hall or to get a surge of energy before after-school practice.

But at noon hour, these so called "junk food machines" are locked. A student without some form of lunch can only seek refuge in the juice and yogurt machine, or with visions of the cat in Med. Phys. class the hour before, he may prefer to watch.

If one compares the 1978 soccer season with the 1979 season, he wouldn't see a great difference in the won-lost-tie column. This year their record was 8-6-1. But if he goes a bit deeper, he would see a marked improvement under the direction of Coach Ed Byrnes in the passing ability and defensive playing on the part of the Rapides.

Only 2 years old, the Rapides are a young team in the Woodlands Soccer League, but their outlook is bright. This year they will be losing seniors; Shelley Ives, Stuart Kolb, John McVey, John Heintzkill, Grant Garnett, Gary Wicker, and Dave Schelter, but gained six new players.

This year, key club grew into one of the most active clubs in school. Some of their projects included visiting Demes Rehabilitation Center, Willoway, having a topless carwash, Thanksgiving dance, selling popcorn balls, carmelcorn and sweetrolls, and their second annual tobogganing party was a complete success. One major highlight of the year was district convention in Wauwatosa where friends were made, leadership skills were learned, and key club was brought into a newer and brighter prospective to its members.

Practice, Practice, Practice! Does practice make perfect? Swing choir is a superb example that practice does make perfect. Because of their hours and hours of practice, each swing choir show comes off like a breeze. This can be attributed to their hard work and to the closeness of the group. This also can be attributed to director Linda Rosso and the accompanists. Though these people are usually never seen, without their presence swing choir would not have been the success it was.

UNBELIEVABLE

From a win - loss standpoint, the De Pere varsity football team once again suffered a disappointing winless season. Although its record was a dismal 0-9, the small team did not lack in effort during the season. The Redbirds played superior teams like Ashwaubenon and Marinette tough for most of the game until their opponents' size wore down the smaller Redbirds.

Against Ashwaubenon, Steve Feller slashed through and around the bigger Jaguars for more than 150 yards. With performances like this, the varsity was competitive in most games. Because of their staunch defensive play, Steve Feller, Matt DeCleene, Tim Kowalczyk, Norbert Henrigillis, and Larry Smits made the "Hard Rocks" this season.

The junior varsity got off to a slow start but finished very strong. Controversy Mars Season

Laura Cavil sprouts wings for another point.

Whatever happened to that winning season everyone expected? Why did the team win only one match? Were the players that bad? Were the "subs" better than the starters? Were the players more concerned with their looks rather than their performance? Did the players feel that they "had" the season even before it began? At the end of the season, had the players lost before they entered the court? Why did the coach and players have so many "talks"? Were the players more concerned with pleasing the coach than winning games? Why were the starting players benched halfway through the season?

The 1979 volleyball season leaves behind a lot of unanswered questions. Let us propose another question, "How could all of these questions have been avoided?"

Amy Nelson sets up ... to the front line?

Inexperience Spells Defeat

Tricia Schanen looks vicious as she concentrates on the ball.

With the return of only five players, the 1979 JV volleyball team did not have the sufficient skills to compete on an equal basis with the other teams in their conference.

The season opened with a terrific win over Southwest. Success, however, was short-lived because the experience of the five returning players could not compensate for the new team members' lack of experience.

This is the first year DePere has had a Freshman volleyball team.

The year was spent learning the basics of the game. Though mistakes and inexperience played a major role as the season rolled on, team spirit never died. The team, led by Anita Hoida and Marie VanErem, posted their only win against Clintonville.

Anita Hoida displays freshman spirit as the Redbirds score.

FUNBEARABLE

There's Two Sides To Every Story . . .

. . . The same is true of school. In spite of all the enthusiasm and spirit generated during homecoming, games, and assemblies, there are boring — even unbearable — times as well. Not many can say they have never experienced the frustration of "one of those days," the inability to stifle a yawn, or the loneliness of doing homework when more enjoyable activities exist. These two pages have been set aside as a tribute to all who have strained to keep their head up on a Monday morning, survived the despair caused from a blank mind, and frustration over homework. With courage and willpower unmatched in any other circumstance, we will survive and live through it all.

With an ice pack pressed against her leg, Sarah Burnton limps off the course.

With a good finish in mind, Terry Jo Dickey and Donna Kocken strain to the finish.

While not on the course running, D. Kocken, F. Levesque, K. Webb, M. Lamers were always cheering for a victory.

With the return of only four letter-winners, Terry Jo Dickey, Donna Kocken, Sarah Burnton, and Katie Webb- the girls' cross country team did not have quite enough depth and experience to bring them to a winning season. Each race ran parallel with the story of the Pied Piper where Katie Webb (MVP) out-distanced her opponents as well as her teammates. Winning the Sectional meet, Katie Webb went on to state and placed ninth.

Due to injury, Captain Sarah Burnton was out for most of the season. Coming back late in the season, Sarah placed third in the Sectional meet qualifying for the state meet. In the state competition she came in fourth place.

Running A School Is No Easy Job

"There must be some way out," ponders J. Miller.

Secretary Carol Morella and Librarian Frank Kremer work in the "Inner Sanctum" to get some books ready for use on the library shelves.

"What do you say about another four week's detention," kids Mr. Pierce.

Counselor John Miller, Secretary Mary Ann Schumerth, and counselor Jeanne Van Hefty take a break from guiding students with their school programs.

FACULTY Fascinates Students With Knowledge

The dictionary says a TEACHER is "a person who teaches or instructs, especially as a professional." But a teacher at DePere High School is more than that. Some we consider good friends, others we look up to. But all of them have helped us on our way to BIGGER and BETTER things. So to the teachers — THANK YOU.

"Can I help You?"

Band Director Clare Hounsell scores another hit with his fellow musicians, Linda Rosso — vocal music — and Ms. Penhale — orchestra.

Art teachers, Jane Brick and Mary Schall, canvass the school for all budding artists.

Physical education teachers, Brenda Corbin, LuAnn Alberts, Roger Ruf, and Rod Kowalczyk, scoot students through a rigorous activity schedule. Absent: Jean Sterba.

Specialty Lineup: Bjorn Christenson, special education; Andy Meentz, MR education; Louie Heuser, reading; Kim and Den Langenberg, LD education, and Jerry Bruette, reading.

Is it love or infatuation?

Mr. Bork runs for security.

Who said the new school would provide more growth? Agriculture teachers Larry Schneider and Doug Stangel.

Teachers Join In Student Activities

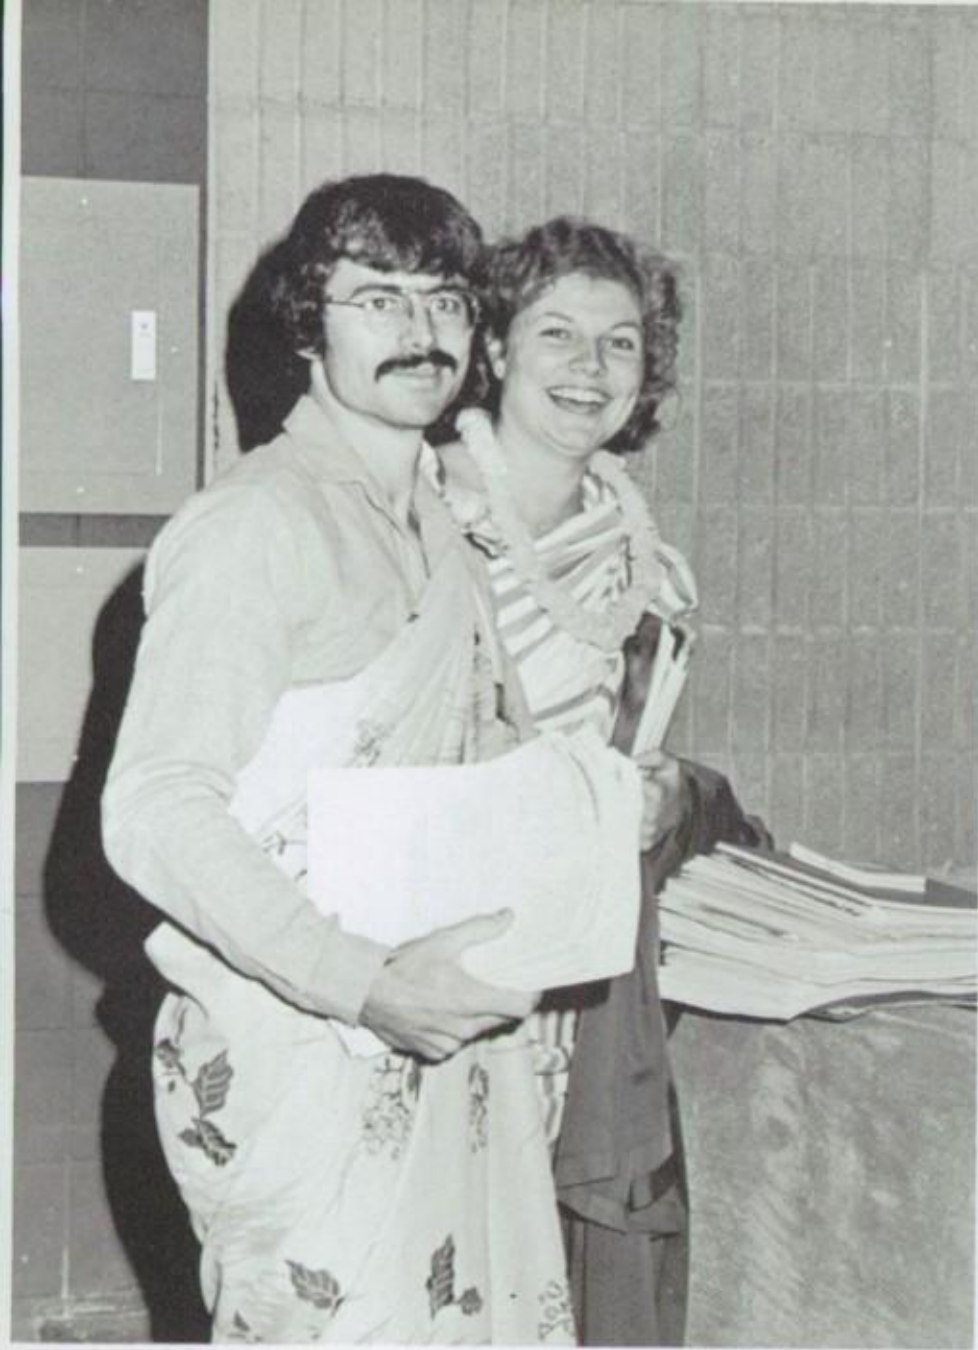

The Math Musketeers: Dennis Riddle, Clayton Smits, and Paul Shusta.

Mrs. Clark wants to table the happy homemakers' discussion. Home economics department: Mary Clark, Katherine Moore, and Cathy Huppert.

Mr. Marchant assures everyone. John Marchant, Karla Cihla, and Mike Kelley.

The Odd Couple?

A rose between two thorns: social studies teachers — Keith Coleman, Betty Hutjens, and Jake Orlowski.

The shopping spr ... three: industrial arts teachers — Joel Lain, Jack Pasterski, and Tom Kopitzke.

Part time teachers: Carol Rafferty in Health Careers and Bill Van Dyk in social studies.

Mrs. Ziemann makes-up Her mind.

Staff Synchronizes With Student Body To Make Things Tick

Barb Treutelaar informs Jan Liebergen of an encouraging statistic: only 40 orthodontist appointments today.

LaVerne Trembl and Pat Ives know how to get our attention every third hour.

Joan Byrne and Rosemary Cavil keep the "big guys" in line.

Ray Pansier, will you please come to the office?

Bert Kazmierczak, Lucille Diedrich, and Sheila Willems can really dish it out.

George VanDomelen, Eleanore Rozmarynoski, Irene Halstead, Darlene Kerkhoff, Pat Vogel, and Mike Vieau make a clean sweep.

Kevin Keyser grimaces while looking for a way to escape.

The De Pere wrestling team's record wasn't the most outstanding this year, but that didn't stop the aggressive wrestlers. The team sent two wrestlers, Ricky Scray and Andy Scray, to the sectional tournament. Terry Vander Loop also broke the school record for most escapes, having 23. The JV team received the first trophy ever won for DE Pere at the Bay Port JV Tournament. This may be the stepping stone for future success.

Mike Baumgart concentrates on what arm to grab to throw a half.

Curt Carter stays on top to get control and a takedown.

In hope of a victory, Mark Nickel, Dave Neumeyer, Coach Kelley, Kevin Keyser, and Brian Ambrosius watch their teammate.

FROZEN

Brown Christmas Doesn't Dampen Spirits

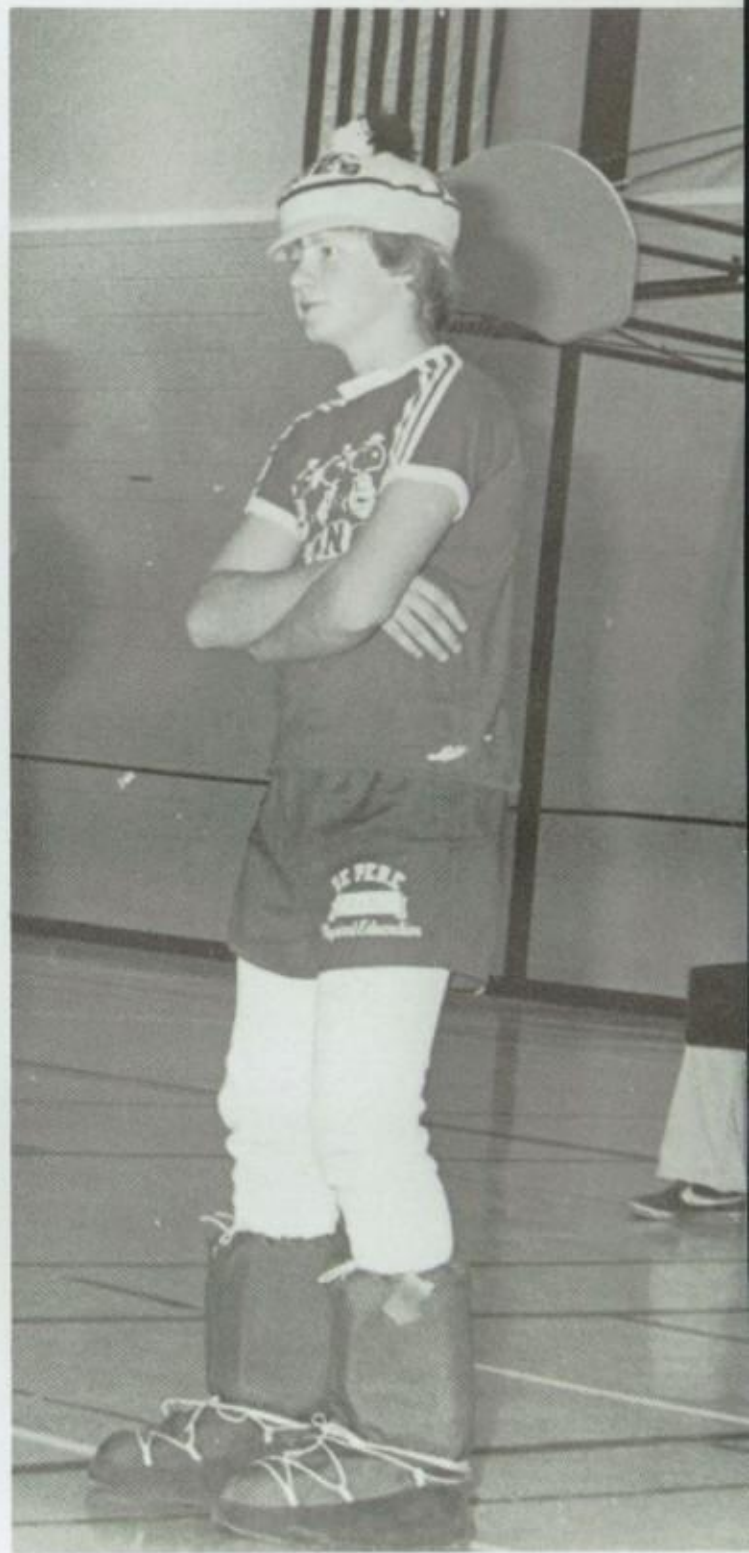

The school Christmas season becomes a time for secret Kris Kringles, voting for Mr. Christmas and Miss Yuletide, and preparing for band and choir Christmas concerts. It is a time when most clubs hold a Christmas party, and it is a time for student council to get ready for the Christmas Assembly. Most important to many, it is a time to count the days until vacation.

The Christmas assembly began as usual with the crowning of Mr. Christmas and Miss Yuletide. Brenda Brennan and Norbert Henrigillis made their heart-throbbing march to the sound of Frank Sinatra's White Christmas. Swing Choir followed with a few songs to precede the person every student waited anxiously for — Santa Claus. He read five letters from students with some sort of problem and gave them a present. To Julie Garnett he gave a dog passifier, to Eugene Feller a poster of John Travolta, to Ann Troup an artificial leg, and to Mike Bunker he gave a toy van. But the best present was Mr.

Wiza's long lost stick which was returned.

Indeed, it would end up to be a brown Christmas, but the students left in the Christmasy spirit for the next few days.

NEW COACH + VETERAN TEAM = SUCCESS

The De Pere High School Hockey Team consists of players from East De Pere, West De Pere, and Pennings. East De Pere is represented by 12 players, 5 on the varsity team and 7 on the J.V. team. For 7 of these players, it will be their last year to play high school hockey.

The De Pere Varsity Team was very successful this year compared to past years. With every game, they set new team records. Also, the addition of Len Brignall as head coach, former Ashwaubenon coach, made noticeable improvement in the team as the season progressed. The improving De Pere team placed second in the Mid-America Holiday Classic Hockey Tournament, losing to Marquette in the finals. Yet they were the only team to even score against the Marquette team. But, with every successful year, there is always at least one sour note. The team was riddled by unrest which led to the departure of three players. Although this had happened, it was definitely overshadowed by the team's tremendous success, 9-5-2 overall the 4-2-2 in the league in the 1979-80 season.

Watching the J.V.'s play always guaranteed excitement. In the first 7 games they played, they either tied or lost by a goal. The talent on this team is definitely evident, and they hold promise to good Varsity teams in the near future.

WINTER CARNIVAL WEEK
MON. TUG OF WAR
TUE. SLAVE DAY
WED. HAT DAY
THURS. HEAT WAVE DAY
FRI. EAST-WEST SPIRIT DAY
SAT. SNOWBALL DANCE

Winter Carnival Begins On High Note

Winter — that time of year when life seems to drag on. The purpose of Winter Carnival Week is to psyche up the student body and relieve the boredom of the monotonous season. Maybe the lack of winter this year would explain the sparse participation in student council's planned activities.

The week got off to a strong start with the tug of war competition. As usual, the mighty seniors prevailed. The revival of Slave Day saw nearly eighty fearless slaves working devotedly for their masters. The two hundred dollars raised was donated to cerebral palsy. Hat Day brought out the popularity of cowboy hats. Heat Wave Day proved there were at least a few individuals willing to brave the unbearable temperatures. Finally, Spirit Day for the East-West game was painted with red and white, but no originality was drawn. The week's activities were culminated by the Snowball Dance on Saturday night.

Winter Carnival may not have had the impact Homecoming Week always does, but it did provide a pleasant change of atmosphere for both participants and the non-participants.

One-Act Play Performs At State Once Again

This year's one-act play, "The Cop and the Anthem," created many memories, both good and bad, for the large cast and crew members. Who can forget Mrs. Ziemann's voice as a recording being run throughout the daily afternoon practices? The scene crew may still wonder how their battered church and store window held up after each performance. The cast will always remember the meaning of the word "project." In addition to these memories, the strong group friendships added to the excitement of this year's production.

The characters in the play represented all types from life — a little girl to an eighty-year-old lady — a snob-by waitress to a sleezy hooker. The play centered on one main character - Lemuel, a tramp — played by Tom O'Donnell. Excluding Lemuel and the cop, played by Tom Pederson, each character appeared in only one of the nine acts of the play.

Unquestionably, at the true tests, each person came through with flying colors. At the conference contest the play received 2nd place, and for the second year in a row advanced from sub-district, district, and sectionals to perform at state.

Without a doubt, after three months of hard practicing they deserve the honor. Although the recognition in the school and community is not as great as sports events. The entire cast, like the team, walks proud.

"Don't point" was one rule that Tom Pederson's mom forgot to teach him.

Tom O'Donnell finds out that this old lady, Chelle Mancosky, is stronger willed than he thought.

These four girls, Coleen O'Leary, Karen Komsa, Lisa Perry, and Laura Maynard have found something very interesting on their evening stroll.

Third Consecutive Year

Although VICA, Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, is only three years old, they have done well at state competitions. The first year, in the health events, first and third places were earned. A first place in most categories makes one eligible for national competitions. The second year, in the leadership events, a third place was earned. This year another good showing is expected.

Redbirds Soar To Another Winning Season

The Redbirds, living up to DePere Basketball tradition, cashed in on another winning season for 1979-80. The senior starters were Tim Kowalczyk, Steve Feller, Mike Ruf, and Todd Dickinson. Rick Burnton represented the juniors in the starting line-up. Playing for DePere in their final year as seniors were Russ Williams, Todd Pierce, Kevin DeCleene, and Brian Thyres.

The Redbirds had many high points during the season. Todd Dickinson's 1000 point effort during his four year high school career was certainly one of the highest. On Friday, February 15, 1980, DePere's star center surpassed the 1000 point mark enroute to another victory for the Redbirds.

You can only predict that DePere's basketball teams will continue to be near the top of the Bay Conference. With the talent at junior, sophomore, and freshman levels, there is a good feeling for DePere's basketball future.

In scoring his 1000 point, Todd Dickinson displays his patented jump shot to his DePere homecourt fans.

The sands of time have stopped flowing as this year's school days near an end. Whatever has happened, both good and bad, is now history. History cannot be changed but only looked back upon — enjoyed, regretted, relived, forgotten. The memories can be pondered over and the emotions of the year — the frustration during exams, relief in finishing homework on time, anger at a teacher, happiness while sharing a joke, the ecstasy of victory, and the devastation of defeat — can be recalled. By recognizing these feelings objectively, honestly, and realistically, we have enabled ourselves to keep moving forward, with the help of frequent glances at our moments to remember.
